

THE LACKEY heartbeats

“It is an honor to serve as one of the 462 volunteers making a difference in our community at Lackey Clinic. From the front desk to patient checkout, and every step along the way, our service is necessary to ensure the provision of quality healthcare to those who otherwise may not receive it. How rewarding it is to see the powerful impact of that help. Time and time again, volunteering here is an eye-opening experience that ultimately widens our perspective. Some of our patients have situations that we would never have dreamed about. Some are just like us. No matter what, we help them—and we do it with respect.”

Congratulations LACKEY VOLUNTEERS!

WE ARE SO PROUD OF OUR LACKEY VOLUNTEERS. And we are thrilled that they have been awarded the 2016 Citizens of the Year.

Sunday, February 19th, 2017 the Daily Press announced the Lackey Clinic volunteers as the 2016 Citizens of the Year. The lead article appeared on the front page of the newspaper, and there was a companion article on the editorial page. If you did not see the articles, please find a copy of Sunday’s paper and read them.

On February 23rd, Lackey Clinic was awarded the Daily Press 2016 Citizens of the Year. In a special Gala event with over 400 in attendance Kim Spencer, Director of Volunteers at Lackey Clinic received and shared what the volunteers mean and do for the clinic.

“This year’s Daily Press Citizen of the Year doesn’t stand alone. A group of committed citizens was selected because they share a common mission: to help uninsured neighbors find healing and hope on the Virginia Peninsula at the Lackey Clinic. Whether doctors or nurses, engineers or students, these volunteers donated their time for every task from filing paperwork to conducting medical procedures to sharing their faith with any patient who sought help for their soul along with their body...Today volunteers at the clinic are an integral force that supports a doctor’s office, pharmacy, dental clinic, a chronic care clinic and more. More than 450 volunteered last year at Lackey Clinic, which provided services in over 15,000 visits.” Proclamation

“From person to person, heart to heart, helping hand to hand, our common mission lives on. We give people years of life and years of hope because we’re here. We do it not for ourselves, but in the name of Jesus Christ,” says Linda Hutchinson a Lackey Clinic volunteer.

Pain, discomfort, chronic illnesses, lack of proper medication, challenging life-situations, a painful toothache, a growing family, no insurance, a low paying job, having to choose between medicine for high blood pressure or putting food on the family's table. Perhaps you are saying, "I do not want to wait until May 9 to give. I want to be a solution to the patient problems and give now." I am sure our patients will be happy to hear that! Please use the enclosed envelope, or go to LackeyClinic.org and donate online.

and Cooka Shaw who were our very first volunteers 22 years ago and won the very same award from the Daily Press in 2007! Our volunteers have and always will be the life blood of the Clinic that allows us to care for so many of our neighbors in the community that need our help. Thank you to our Volunteers for these many gifts.

GRATITUDE: when we recognize that the source of goodness comes from outside of ourselves... we acknowledge that other people—gave us many gifts, big and small, to help us achieve the goodness in our lives". (Robert Emmons) As we look through the many years our Volunteers have been selflessly giving the Clinic their time and talents we realize the goodness we have received comes from that day to day care of our patients and the clinic as a whole; we are blessed. The Daily Press Award for Citizens of the Year to our Volunteers was in many ways a fitting tribute to Jim

"My aortic valve was deteriorating. I couldn't breathe, even with oxygen at the Emergency Room three or four times a week. I came here and filled out my paperwork and told them what I needed—some teeth pulled. I had that done and two weeks later, I had my heart surgery. I'm 100% now. I feel right at home here ... everybody looks out for you."
